Easy Crochet Daisy Bracelet Pattern

This easy crochet daisy bracelet is made with small six-petal flowers joined together with simple chain sections. A bead is added to the center of each flower, and two extra flowers finish the ends of the bracelet ties.

The sample uses 8 flowers in total: 6 for the main bracelet and 2 for the tie ends. You can make more or fewer flowers to fit your wrist.

Skill Level

Beginner-friendly

The flower itself uses only chains, double crochets, and slip stitches. The joining section takes a little more attention because you'll be working into the back of the flower petals.

Materials

- Cotton yarn for the flowers
- White yarn for joining the flowers
- 2.20 mm crochet hook
- Beads for the flower centers
- Glue for attaching the beads

US Crochet Terms

- ch = chain
- dc = double crochet
- sl st = slip stitch
- MR = magic ring

Pattern Notes

- Make 8 flowers in total.
- Use 6 flowers for the main bracelet.
- Use the remaining 2 flowers at the ends of the ties.
- You can increase or decrease the number of flowers to fit your wrist.
- When joining the main flowers, make 4 chains within each flower and 5 chains between flowers.

Part 1: Make the Daisy Flowers

Make all 8 flowers the same way.

Flower

Step 1

Make a magic ring.

Step 2

Chain 2.

Step 3

Work 2 double crochets into the magic ring.

Step 4

Chain 2.

Step 5

Make a slip stitch into the magic ring.

That's your first petal group.

Step 6

For the next petal, work:

- chain 2
- 2 double crochets into the magic ring
- chain 2
- slip stitch into the magic ring

Step 7

Repeat the same sequence until you have 6 petal groups around the ring.

Each petal is made with:

chain 2, 2 double crochets, chain 2, slip stitch

You should now have a small six-petal flower.

Step 8

Chain 1 and fasten off.

Pull the magic-ring tail to close the center.

Secure the beginning and ending yarn tails, then weave them into the stitches on the back of the flower.

Step 9

Glue a bead into the center of the flower.

You can use any bead color you like.

Repeat these steps until you have 8 flowers in total.

Set 2 flowers aside for the tie ends. The other 6 flowers will make up the main bracelet.

Part 2: Join the First Side of the Bracelet

Use white yarn for the joining section.

Lay out the 6 main flowers so you can work through them one at a time.

First Flower

Step 1

Take the first flower.

Choose any petal and join the white yarn behind one of the double crochet stitches on that petal.

Step 2

Chain 4.

Step 3

Skip the next petal.

On the following petal, make a slip stitch behind one of its double crochet stitches.

That gives you the first short connecting chain across the flower.

Step 4

Chain 5.

This chain takes you from the first flower to the second flower.

Part 3: Join the Second Flower

Step 1

Take the second flower.

Choose a petal and make a slip stitch behind one of the double crochet stitches.

Step 2

Chain 4.

Step 3

Skip one petal.

On the next petal, make a slip stitch into one of the double crochet stitches.

Step 4

Chain 5.

Then move on to the next flower.

Part 4: Continue Across All 6 Flowers

Join the remaining flowers in the same way.

For each flower:

1. Join the next flower with a slip stitch through a loop on the back of a petal.
2. Chain 4.
3. Skip one petal.
4. Make another slip stitch on the next petal.
5. Chain 5 to move to the next flower.

Continue until all 6 main flowers are connected.

Keep this chain count in mind:

- 4 chains within each flower
- 5 chains between flowers

Part 5: Make the First Tie

After joining all 6 flowers, finish the first side on the last flower.

Step 1

After the final chain-4 section and slip stitch, chain 2.

Step 2

Move to the petal immediately after the petal where you made that last slip stitch.

Make another slip stitch into a loop on the back of this petal.

Step 3

Now make the first tie chain.

Chain 22, or make the chain as long as you need for your preferred tie length.

Step 4

Take one of the 2 flowers you set aside earlier.

Make a slip stitch into any loop on the back of this flower to attach it to the end of the tie.

Step 5

Chain 1 and fasten off.

Weave the yarn end into the stitches on the back.

The first tie is finished.

Part 6: Join the Opposite Side

Now work back along the other side of the 6 main flowers with white yarn.

This creates a second line of chain connections along the bracelet.

Step 1

Return to the last main flower.

Join the white yarn to a loop on the petal where you made the last slip stitch.

Step 2

Chain 4.

Step 3

Skip one petal.

Make a slip stitch on the next petal.

Step 4

Chain 5.

Move to the next flower.

Step 5

When you reach the next flower, do not join into the same point you used on the first side.

Instead, make your slip stitch into a loop on the back of the next petal.

Before making the slip stitch, check that you're using the next petal rather than the same joining point from the first side.

Step 6

Chain 4.

Step 7

Skip one petal.

Make another slip stitch on the next petal.

Step 8

Chain 5 and move to the next flower.

Repeat the same joining sequence across all of the main flowers.

Keep using the same chain counts:

- 4 chains within each flower
- 5 chains between flowers

Part 7: Finish the Opposite Side and Make the Second Tie

When you reach the end of the row:

Step 1

Chain 4.

Step 2

Skip one petal.

Make a slip stitch on the next petal.

Step 3

For the second tie, chain 22 or 23.

Step 4

Take the final flower you set aside.

Make a slip stitch into any loop on the back of the flower to attach it to the tie.

Step 5

Chain 1 and fasten off.

Weave in all remaining yarn ends through the stitches on the back of the bracelet.

Finishing

Use steam to gently shape the flowers and chain sections.

Once everything is shaped, your bracelet is finished and ready to wear.

You can also wear the same design as an anklet.

The sample is also shown with different bead colors, including pink and yellow, so you can choose a bead color that works well with your yarn.
